

The ECHO™ — Your Weekly Presentation Tip

May 23, 2007

PowerPoint 2007 Reminder

Every time there's a new version of PowerPoint, a lot of presenters fall victim to a common ailment: version mismatch. Don't be one of them. Nothing ruins a presentation by showing up and finding out that the computer you're presenting from has an earlier version.

If you have converted to the latest version of PowerPoint, congratulations. Make sure you don't have a problem, though, by saving a version of your presentation in "compatibility mode" and checking it on another computer to make sure no formatting problems have emerged.
